

SOUND BANKING CONDITIONS

During the years that this bank has been serving the public we have maintained those conservative and solid principles of banking practice which have built for us a solid and sound foundation of confidence on the part of our patrons.

We have frequently referred to this factor as our greatest asset, and the asset which we guard the most zealously.

In times of depression and financial stress, it is most satisfying to feel that your financial interests are guarded by an organization whose first and last interest is your protection and success.

LODGE NEWS

Loyal Order of Moose

Next Wednesday night a special meeting of the Moose will be held at Odd Fellow's hall at 8 p. m. The annual membership will be called and every member is urged to be present and answer for himself. A large class will be initiated. It is claimed that this will be the largest class we have had this year.

Following the initiation there will be an entertainment. Some of the best speakers in Phoenix who are members of the Moose lodge will be present and speak. The entertainment committee also has provided other features on the program which will be made known at the proper moment. And then, to make a proper setting for the end of a perfect night, refreshments will be served. Come and get acquainted with the new members.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD

The Woodmen of the World held a very interesting meeting on Monday evening.

The minutes of the special meeting of Friday night disclosed the fact that one of the most interesting occasions of its kind was held upon that date, not only was there a fine class of candidates to initiate, but there was a record attendance there to initiate them.

The meeting was presided over by the council commander of the head camp, Sovereign A. A. Potts and there were in the hall visiting sovereigns from all over the Arizona-Mexico jurisdiction including the state manager of New Mexico, Sovereign George McDonald and Sovereign Collins of Miami, the clerk of the head camp.

The initiation was conducted by the Glendale and Phoenix teams, and it there was any doubt in the minds of the candidates as to whether they were to receive the degree work it was soon dispelled and long before morning they were wondering why they ever put their name on the dotted line, but they were so well initiated that they could not get them to take it off again for any money.

There was also one of those athletic programs for which the Woodmen are becoming famous, this one consisted of two wrestling matches and a sparring match, and needless to say, it was a success from beginning to end. There was also plenty of punch and cigars for everyone.

This meeting marked the close of the head camp convention which was in session for three days previous to this in our neighboring city of Mesa.

The head camp convention marks a new epoch in the history of Woodcraft and from now on the citizens of Salt River valley are going to look upon our order in a new light and are going to realize that it is not only one of America's greatest home protectors but is also one of America's greatest fraternal societies as well, and that while it is protecting the homes it is also teaching the young men of our country to be better men and better citizens.

One of the recommendations of the head camp was the reviving of our military rank, which alone should be an incentive to push the work of Woodcraft. It has never been pushed before. When you think of men who were called from the ranks of Woodcraft in the capacity of officers during the war, you will begin to realize what interest our order takes in the affairs of the world, and also you will understand why it was that your father during his life was so proud to be a Woodman.

On Monday evening, April 4, we are moving back to our old home in the Knights of Pythias hall and we are going to have one of the biggest times in the history of this camp. There has been a committee appointed to take charge of the killing of the fatted calf and other matters in connection with such an important event so mark the date in your old family Bible so you will see it often, and, if possible, you will be sorry. A word to the wise you know.

There is going to be something doing every Monday evening from now on.

FRATERNAL BROTHERHOOD

On Saturday night was held the regular initiation but it was quite irregular in the method it was put on. The evening was in charge of a dozen live-wire men of the lodge who formed themselves into an escort team specially uniformed, and with the assistance of the officers of the lodge exemplified the ritualistic work in a manner accessible to every member present. At times it was impressive and at others laughable and in every way it was a successful session.

The same committee looked after the social part of the evening and prepared a rabbit drive and an egg hunt. The fun was continued during the full night ending with the usual dancing and card games.

On Saturday, April 2, the delegates to the supreme lodge will be voted for. Phoenix lodge No. 43, is running Brother Ralph Young who has been a loyal member for 20 years. Members are notified to be present and vote as the delegate occupies a position of vital interest to the society and no worthy shirks his duty.

A "big surprise" is promised, different from anything that has even been presented before and this promise means something coming from a source so rich in entertainment.

SECURITY BENEFIT ASSOCIATION

Next Friday evening will be the regular initiation night and there will be a large class to initiate. As there will be an unusually large amount of business to transact a good attendance is desired. H. C. Wolfson, state manager, and A. H. Hargrave, deputy, have been over at Casa Grande for a few days looking over the territory with the intention of installing a council.

The many friends of Sister Erna Gordon Thomas will be glad to learn that she is at home again and is improving as fast as can be expected. We will all be glad when she is able to be with us again, as we have certainly missed her at the meetings. Brother Geo. Holwell, who has been sick for a short time, is improving. April 1 is the time set for the spring drive for membership, and we want every member to boost this drive and see if we cannot increase our membership to 600 by July 1. Some good prizes will be offered for those bringing in the greatest number of members. Ask Brother Sloan for information in regard to the prizes. These will be in addition to the national council prizes. Let everybody boost for the spring drive campaign for new members.

NEW YORK EDITOR VISITS PHOENIX IN TOUR OF THE WEST

In the course of a tour of the country west of the Mississippi for the first time, R. H. Lyman, assistant managing editor of the New York World, arrived in the city yesterday morning, accompanied by Arnold Kruckman, secretary of the League of the Southwest, and Mrs. Kruckman. Mr. Kruckman was formerly of the staff of the World.

They were shown about the canal system of the valley by W. S. Norvell, state water commissioner, and yesterday afternoon they were taken to the Roosevelt dam by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dolbins. They will go from the dam over the Miami-Superior highway, and at the end of it they will be met by a delegation from Tucson, headed by President von Klenzendorf of the university, where they will be entertained.

The trip is being made by Mr. Lyman to get the "feel" of the west. He went as far as Hawaii, where he encountered the yellow race problem, where it has become a real menace so that he could understand the mindsets of the Californians at the invasion.

Mr. Lyman has been connected with the World for 28 years, and though in his position he must have become familiar with the conditions of the whole country, he said that actual contact with the west had given him new impressions. One impression is that Arizona has not made enough noise. California has, of course, covered the country with frequent reports of expiations, but Arizona has depended too much on the conditions that people form of it after leaving come to see it.

Though he knew, or thought he knew, all about the Grand Canyon, Mr. Lyman learned that any written description, or any written description of it, are inadequate.

The foundation of a new industry is being laid in Arizona, the procuring of natural colors from the earth to be used in the paint industry of the future. This work is being done by W. B. Harrison and Fred Hagan.

The material was discovered in the course of the operation of a quarry mine. Mr. Harrison, who had been engaged in the paint business, recognized the probability of the use of the material in paints and similar uses. It was from various strata of different colors. It was ground to the necessary degree of fineness.

Samples brought to Phoenix, presented by Mr. Harrison, were of the most brilliant colors. Among these are indigo and azure, the former believed to be superior to the imported Indigo, which is a manufactured product. A focus test of the durability of the colors has been made, demonstrating that they will stand any degree of heat before which the artificially made coloring would yield to change. Experiments have shown that the colors dissolve readily and permeate white lead. It has been learned from old residents in the vicinity that years ago the Indians used to visit that locality and secure coloring for their faces.

Said Mr. Harrison: "There we have all the colors of the Arizona sunset, and there is no more gorgeous coloring in the world."

A great deal of the material already has been taken out for shipment to various factories engaged in the manufacture of paint and calcimine.

The war department is working on a plan to make Camp Dix, New Jersey, one of the chief polo centers in the country. The sport will be promoted as a feature of military training, experts declaring it develops daring, courage, quick thinking and acting.

British war veterans of London have organized a "Raiders' Club," which meets each week in a Soho restaurant for dinner. The members are all men who did at least one raid during the world war. All members have been decorated for their distinguished service.

Parisians who are free from military service are being called upon to volunteer for the Paris aerial defense service.
